Frequently Asked Questions

Why am I required to submit Evidence of Insurability?

The requirement varies from policy to policy. Usually, Evidence of Insurability (also called Proof of Good Health) is required when:
- You apply for an amount of Group Life insurance coverage higher than the Guaranteed Issue amount.
- You are currently enrolled and want to increase coverage.
- You decline Group Life or Disability coverage during your initial eligibility period and then want coverage at a later date; or
- You elect to buy-up Long Term or Short Term Disability coverage (if applicable).

What is a Guaranteed Issue limit?

If you are an eligible employee and apply for Group Life insurance coverage within 31 days of your date of eligibility, your plan may allow you to apply for amounts of coverage, in various increments, up to a coverage maximum. However, the plan may only guarantee you a certain amount of that coverage – the Guaranteed Issue limit – without you providing Evidence of Insurability.

Please see your employee benefits plan document, or ask your employer for information regarding your plan’s coverage amounts and any applicable Guaranteed Issue limits.

What if I apply after 31 days?

If you apply for coverage more than 31 days from your date of eligibility, you will be considered a “late entrant” and the entire amount you are applying for will be subject to Evidence of Insurability.

How do I provide Evidence of Insurability?

Complete the online Evidence of Insurability application by following the instructions in this brochure. Or, if you wish, you may fill out our printable EOI application, sign it and mail or fax it to the address/fax number on the form. Printable EOI applications are available at www.sunlife-usa.com > Customer Service Center > Group Insurance Forms.

What happens after I submit the application?

After we receive your Evidence of Insurability application, Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada will process it and send you either an approval or pending notification. If your application is pending, a member of our Life Insurance team may contact you to arrange for you to take a medical exam (at our expense). Coverage subject to EOI will not go into effect until Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada contacts your employer with approval and you meet all other eligibility requirements.
